LEFT weekend 2016

15-17 April (Friday supper until after Sunday lunch)
at Holland House, Cropthorne, Worcs WR10 3NB

www.hollandhouse.org

“The Fragile Ecology of the Soul:
a weekend of creative prayer, play and pondering”
facilitated by Tracey Byrne, CEO of LGCM

Tracey Byrne joined LGCM as only its third Chief Executive in almost 40 years. Born in Coventry, she attended Christadelphian Sunday school and youth groups. Secondary education in Warwick was followed by a degree in Agricultural Economics at London University's Wye College where she came to faith through the Christian Union but quite quickly struggled with its rather controlling, interventionist pastoring. After university, she moved first to London, to spend time as a volunteer at a project for homeless people in Stepney, then to the south-west where she was confirmed into an Anglo-Catholic parish. While working in student support at a university in Oxfordshire, she encountered Jim Cotter, began to read his work on AIDS and sexuality, and visited him in Sheffield. In 1998 she met her partner Sandy, an assistant head-teacher in a large secondary school. From 2007 she was involved in chaplaincy – first in a university setting and most recently in an acute hospital. Tracey's involvement with LGBT issues arose out of her MTh studies at Oxford University, when she undertook work with members of the Sybils network, and when an elderly friend came out as transgender. Tracey and Sandy now live in Nottinghamshire with their two pugs, Agatha and Hiro, and they worship in their parish church.

We will be marking our 10th anniversary
